

Lifestyle

GORGEOUS GALS Expert reveals who the most beautiful Selling Sunset star is, according to the Golden Ratio – & it's not that surprising

THE HOMES sold on Netflix's Selling Sunset are gorgeous, but the cast of agents on the hit reality series is arguably just as beautiful.

The Sun spoke to a celebrity dermatologist who ranked the beauty of each cast member according to the Golden Ratio – and the best-looking agent is not very surprising.

The Golden Ratio, according to Dr. Mehr, certified dermatologist and owner of dermBx, is a scientific way of measuring the proportions of one's face and comparing it to the ideal facial structure, also known as Phi.

Famously used by Leonardo Da Vinci, the Golden Ratio takes into account three zones to measure one's facial aesthetic.

While Da Vinci used the ratio to measure a natural face, advancements in plastic surgery and facial procedures have allowed the ratio to be “pushed to the limits,” Dr. Mehr noted.

So, not only did Dr. Mehr analyze the face of each Selling Sunset cast member using the Golden Ratio, she commented on the face-enhancing work they've had done and offered her recommendations going forward.

Here is the ranking of the Selling Sunset cast's faces, from most ideal to least.

CHRISTINE QUINN

Ratio: 91/100

“Christine is the one you love to hate and not only because of her storyline but because of how fabulous she is,” Dr. Mehr explained.

She noted that she believes Christine stays on top of her skincare and maintenance treatments.

“Her high score is due to the amount of symmetry in her face,” she added.

JASON OPPENHEIM

Jason Oppenheim is photographed on the right Credit: Getty

Ratio: 87/100

“Jason will definitely be able to brag at his next family gathering, scoring 5 points higher than his brother,” Dr. Mehr noted.

“I see him as more of the beach-lover out of the two brothers, so it is important he remembers to use his sunscreen daily and reapply every two hours when at the beach.”

VANESSA VILLELA

Ratio: 89/100

“Vaa - Vaa Voom!”

“These are the kind of facial features that will never be caught with a bad angle.”

“Very Sophia Loren, Angelina Jolie vibes,” Dr. Mehr gushed.

She continued: “When these genetically blessed patients sit in my exam chair, I get them on the dermBx Essential system to maintain this healthy glow [which] has all the [American] Board of Dermatology recommended ingredients needed for anti-aging.”

CHRISHELL STAUSE

Ratio: 83/100

Chrishell Stause, according to Dr. Mehr, maintains a “youthful appearance.” She applauded her for only using botox and fillers where she needs them in order to show off her naturally beautiful and young glow.

EMMA HERNAN

Ratio: 83/100

“The first thing I notice as a board-certified dermatologist is the amount of sun exposure Emma has on her chest,” Dr. Mehr noted of the agent, CEO, and investor.

“Emma, being so fair naturally, has the predisposition of developing skin cancer,” she added.

Therefore, Dr. Mehr recommended focusing on treatments with aminolevulinic acid to “target abnormal cells and help with pigmentation.”

“I believe in being proactive, not reactive,” she said.

BRETT OPPENHEIM

Brett Oppenheim is photographed on the right Credit: Getty

Ratio: 82/100

“How do identical twins score differently? Lifestyle definitely plays a part,” Dr. Mehr noted of the different scores she gave the Oppenheim brothers.

“Things like stress, hormones, [and] sun exposure are all contributing factors to aging.

“For Brett, I would definitely recommend ‘bro-tox’ and a good skincare routine.”

AMANZA SMITH

Ratio: 81/100

While Amanza Smith received a great Golden Ratio score, Dr. Mehr thinks she needs to focus on her temple area, as it's a zone often forgotten about when it comes to aging.

"I would have only a Master Injector add product to her temples," she cautioned.

Despite this small note, Dr. Mehr said Amanza has "flawless skin."

MAYA VANDER

Ratio: 80/100

Dr. Mehr gave Maya Vander a glowing review when it comes to her facial features and skincare routine.

"Maya is a natural beauty," she noted.

"Being a mother of three, there is no stress present on her face.

"Don't get me wrong, she definitely uses more than just olive oil, but it is clear she takes care of herself inside out.

"My suspicion is she's had quite a bit of Thermage treatments in her lifetime."

HEATHER RAE YOUNG

Ratio: 79/100

The beaming Selling Sunset agent and wife to HGTV star Tarek El Moussa, Heather Rae Young, is “gorgeous but appears to be slightly overdone,” per Dr. Mehr.

“I would suggest toning down on cheek filler and continuing an anti-aging skin regimen,” she added.

“I see a fake tanner on board and you can get a natural glow by adding a lot of beta-carotene-rich foods to your diet, as to avoid the orange look.”

MARY FITZGERALD

Ratio: 78/100

Dr. Mehr told The Sun she believes blonde bombshell Mary Fitzgerald is “aging beautifully.”

“The one thing that strikes me is her pore size.

“I would recommend a series of Clear & Brilliant treatments to help minimize them as well as dermBx Revolving Retinol which is infused with Bakuchiol, making it a more natural anti-aging option,” she noted.

DAVINA POTRATZ

Ratio: 76/100

“One word! Exfoliate!” Dr. Mehr urged.

She recommended an in-office peel or the at-home dermBx peel pillows, which used controlled solutions to buff away the top layer of dead skin.

Dr. Mehr certainly doesn't hold anything back when analyzing these stars' faces and skin.

To learn more about the Golden Ratio and how other reality stars measure up, Dr. Mehr previously ranked the faces of the cast of Vanderpump Rules.